THIEVES GET A LOT OF LOOT AT COOPER'S HOUSE

Get In While Couple Are Away and Take Almost All Clothes and Valuables at Hand.

While Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cooper were visiting the latter's father, Dr. W. G. Hope, their residence at 902 West Roma avenue was burglarized some time between 6 o'clock Saturday night and noon yesterday.

The thief or thieves took away almost everything they could lay their hands on in the way of jewelry, silverware and clothes, including a valuable fur coat and a dress suit, was taken. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper have been married only a short time, and most of the latter's possessions went into the loot. Two suitcases were taken, supposedly to carry the loot. The number of things taken indicates that more than one person was engaged in the burglary.

Entrance was gained through a window, in which a hole was broken through which to reach the loot. The burglary was reported to the police, who were working on the case today.

Not long ago someone cut through a screen and robbed the Cooper's refrigerator.

STATE PAPERS GOING AFTER THE GAME HOG

Under the heading "Wherever the carcasses are there are the eagles gathered together," the state papers are printing the following account of the ravages of the game hogs. Appearing in several weeklies in various corners of New Mexico the article cannot but attract a good deal of attention to the problem of preserving the game. The story is appended:

And there also it is more than likely the game hogs have been. Witness the story told by W. A. Waters, a trapper in the San Francisco mountains of New Mexico about the wretched slaughter of the vanishing antelope. Mr. Waters is reported as saying that at the mouth of Pigeon creek there lies the cutting carcasses of a fine buck antelope, without even so much as a steak cut from its haunches. The man (?) who killed him, knowing the heavy penalty hanging over his head, evidently simply "beat it." It is to be hoped that he was ashamed, as well as afraid.

If it is true that there are only 350 head of antelope left in the state, as recently announced by the forest service, the man who willfully kills one of these splendid animals ought to go to the pen, say the officers of the local Game Protective association. And that there are such men alive shows also the tremendous task of law-enforcement and public education which the Game Protective association, the game wardens, and the forest rangers have on their hands. It may be said: Remember the Buffalo!

'BURROUGHS' ANIMALS AND 'JUSTICE OF PIE' A JUDICIAL OFFICER

The attorney general's office, which is the local clearing house for freck English, receiving more letters on a greater variety of subjects from more sections of the state than any other state office, has two prize-winning specimens today, says the Santa Fe New Mexican. One is from a man at Mosquero, Union county, who makes inquiry concerning the herd law in that part of New Mexico. He states that he wants to know if owners of cattle, sheep and "burroughs" have the right to allow them to run at large. Assistant Attorney General H. S. Clancy, who received the letter and who has been fighting the "slip" for the last ten days, suffered a violent fit of coughing after reaching the word "burroughs," and was forced to quit work and go home.

The other prize-winner is from Curry county, and is an acknowledgment of a school deed written by a "Justice of Pie" of that county, according to the writer's own way of stating his title. The acknowledgment reads:

"Before Me Personally appeared John C. Martin known to me to be the person whose name is subscribed to the foregoing instrument and acknowledged to me that he executed the same for the purposes and consideration therein expressed. Given under my hand and seal of office this 11 day of Nov. 1915."

SHORTLE RETURNS FROM EL PASO AS M. D.'S PRESIDENT

Local Physician Honored at Banner Gathering of Southwestern Medical Men; Session an Interesting One.

Dr. A. G. Shortle returned this morning from El Paso, where he attended the convention of the Southwestern Medical and Surgical association, a society composed of physicians of New Mexico, Arizona, west Texas and Old Mexico.

He reports the largest gathering of medical men ever held in the southwest. The attendance was almost double of that of last year. There were various scientific papers and some most excellent clinics at the different hospitals, all of which were well attended.

The attendance from Old Mexico was poor for obvious reasons, although Dr. Wischman, Villa's physician, was in attendance and gave a very interesting talk on the treatment, or lack of it, of the wounded in Villa's army.

Dr. Shortle had a paper on the treatment of pleurisy with effusion and was elected president of the society for the coming year. Dr. R. E. Meltride was another New Mexico man honored, being made second vice president.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL FOR MUNDAY IS FILED (By Evening Herald Staff Writer) Morris, Ill., Dec. 12.—A written motion for a new trial for C. B. Munday, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, was filed today.

Munday was associated with former United States Senator William Lorimer in banking ventures.
